methods of work were not the same.

The chapter is divided into three sections: (1) Introduction, (2) Literature review, and (3) Conclusion. Each section contains several subsections that discuss different aspects of the research.

Section I: Introduction

The introduction begins with a brief overview of the research topic and its significance. It then outlines the objectives of the study and provides a rationale for the research question.

Section II: Literature Review

The literature review section is divided into two parts: (a) theoretical framework and (b) empirical studies. The theoretical framework section provides an overview of the relevant theories and concepts that are used in the research. The empirical studies section reviews previous research on the topic, highlighting key findings and identifying gaps in the literature.

Section III: Conclusion

The conclusion summarizes the key findings of the research and discusses their implications. It also provides recommendations for future research.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

The bibliography includes a list of all the sources cited in the research, organized alphabetically by author name.
